CASAL THAUERO

An imprint on the senses, intoxicating aromas and velvety flavours that are gently reminiscent of the character of the terroir. Herein lies the significance of Casal Thaulero's wines, residing in the metamorphosis of grape into wine. Driving the process is the passion and careful professional attention of Casal Thaulero's oenologists, Romeo Taraborelli (named amongst the top 12 oenologists in Italy by Capital Magazine), Pasquale Caldora, and Lino Olivastrì. The secret to the unique character of Casal Thaulero's wines is in the dialogue between the wine and its creator during the final stages, when greatness is elevated to the sublime, and all elements combine to harmoniously become one.

CAMPANIA

VINOSIA LUCIANO ERCOLINO

The mountainous Irpinian territory is unique: its soil, its produce, its cuisine, its people. An ancient farming tradition, combined with the highly varied territory, is rich in historical legacy to make up a patrimony that every inhabitant obstinately wants to preserve. Artistic and archaeological reminiscence of this illustrious past melds with the beauty of typically Mediterranean growths. All of the wines are of a very high standard. And what can be said about Essenza Malvasia? We do not want to gush, but for elegance, cleanliness and

LURETTA

The first production of Azienda Agricola Luretta was made in 1993. The estate of Lucio Salamini is spread over 57 hectares, divided into four separate estates. Some of the vineyards are located in Val Lauretta and some in Val Nure. With the 2002 harvest, the winery moved to Castello di Momeliano at Gazzola and a new cellar was built. After years of awards and recognitions, the Salamini family confirmed the trend by presenting this range of outstanding wines. Total production 230.000 bottles per year. The agricultural imprint is minimal, with the use of fertilizers being banned in order to fully respect both the vineyard, and the natural development of vine and the environment. These methods result in relatively low

WHITEBOCCADIROSA D.O.C.

IL MOSNEL

In the heart of Franciacorta, in Camignone, lies the secular residence with its 16th Century wineries, a testament to the long tradition of winemaking that the Barboglio family inherited in 1836. In 1976 the name "Azienda Agricola Barzanò Barboglio" was replaced with the current Mosnel, a name of Celtic origin meaning "stony ground" on which the business sits. The vineyards are owned by Mosnel to ensure that the utmost respect be paid to the environment, attested to by the steadfast commitment in reduced

CASA VINICOLA NERA

Valtellina's steep, terraced vineyards along the Adda valley are some of the most dramatic in Italy. Nebbiolo is the main grape variety, although it is known here as Chiavennasca. In good vintages, the delicate floral aromas produced by sub-Alpine Nebbiolo are backed up by good fruit concentration. Nera are amongst the area's most serious producers with 48ha of prime vineyards. Winemaker Stefano Nera produces elegant Sassella and Inferno. The gold medal winners Inferno Riserva and Sforzato – made from partly dried grapes –

CANTINA RUINELLO (Oltrepò Pavese)

The Ruinello winery shines among the vineyards of the Versa Valley, dominating it from its high position. Largely built underground to exploit the natural freshness of the ground, the winery has seen the progressive introduction of new working techniques, necessary for the production processes of modern oenology. The wines are produced through accurate vinification of grapes, rigorously hand-harvested and grown by winemakers who want to obtain quality, respecting the environment and the winemaking tradition of Oltrepò Pavese - a fascinating land in the province of Pavia. The Versa Valley's soft hills are covered in thousands of hectares of vineyards: it is the beating heart of the entire wine business in Oltrepò

COLONNARA

The Colonnara Cooperative in Cupramontana was established in 1959 and has now 183 small growers owning nearly 300 ha. Apart from a high-tech approach to vinification, production is characterised by an effectively "organic" approach to viticulture, using minimal treatments and only natural fertilisers. Verdicchio is unjustly unfashionable in the U.K. At its best, as in Cuprese – a selection from low yielding 20 year old vines – it can be a wine of real personality. CASCINA CASTLÈT COSTIGLIOLE

The wines of Cascina Castlet were an instant hit when we took them in 1996. Thanks to a unique combination of brilliantly innovative packing and exciting and rare styles of wine, they have quickly developed a large following. As with so many of our quality-obsessed smaller producers, we have noticed further improvements in winemaking with the new vintages. Passum is their most famous wine, a Barbera made – almost like an Amarone – from partially dried grapes. Quantities are extremely limited and demand is high. Other notable wines include Litina – a cru Barbera d’Asti with considerable depth and concentration, and a sublimely scented Moscato d’Asti and Avie’ – an intense Moscato passito.

SELLA & MOSCA

The impressive structure of Sella & Mosca, with over 500 ha of vineyards in the Alghero area of north-west Sardinia, makes them one of Europe's largest wineries to produce exclusively from their own grapes. Investments in state of the art technology and vineyard management give Sella & Mosca's wines incredible consistency. Since the company's foundation in 1899 by the eponymous Piedmontese partners, it has set the winegrowing standard for Sardinia. The white wines are very modern in style, very clean, with an extraordinary freshness given the hot Mediterranean climate. The red production is mostly in a more traditional vine, with ripe Mediterranean spicy flavours to the core.

TENUTE SMERALDA

Azienda Agricola Cocco Francesca is a small winery which has been operating in Sardinia for over 50 years. Located in Partoella, a territory that, thanks to its particular micro-climate, offers the ideal conditions for growing the local grapes of Vermentino and Cannonau, particularly known for their high content of procyanidins, a powerful antioxidant. The yield per hectare is low and the grapes are all carefully selected and split into two categories since 2011 under the brand name "Tenute Smeralda": the Classic range and the Prestige range. The production is limited due to the traditional techniques still used with dedication and passion.

BIONDI SANTI

Ferruccio Biondi Santi first isolated the Brunello clone of Sangiovese in the late 19th C. and he and his successors created a wine capable of extraordinary ageing. Today, the concept of a Brunello Riserva that needs a quarter of a century to show its true class may seem an anachronism. We prefer to salute Biondi Santi as a monument to tradition and uncompromising quality. Older vintages cellared by the producer are available to special order.

DIEVOLE

Dievole is set in tranquil surroundings, nestled in the beautiful Tuscan hills, long known as a little piece of heaven on Earth. The name Dievole officially appeared for the first time in a contract in which Rodolfo and Vinizio paid two capons, three loaves of bread, and 6 silver Lucca denari for a promise of the divine vineyard in May 1090. In 2012 Dievole began a smooth, gradual renewal, aimed at enhancing the deepest identity of this territory. At Dievole, quality comes first and foremost from excellent resources, such as the land dedicated to winemaking, man's experience in working the land, and the constant drive to innovate.

GUADO AL MELO

This is one of the most exciting estates that have emerged from Bolgheri in recent years. Attilio Scienza, with Michele, have taken this small estate and built it into a superstar of Bolgheri. The vines are planted in density of 4 – 5000 vine per ha, that gives low yields per vine. As result they produce wine at remarkable prices that sit at the top of the quality ladder in Italy. In his work at Guado al Melo, youthful grower-winemaker Michele Scienza draws upon a rich heritage of wine knowledge built up over several generations, from his grandfathers who were farmers, to his father Attilio, professor of viticulture. The Scienza family has preserved Tuscan tradition, adding to it their collection of Mediterranean and

RUFFINO

With its long history, Ruffino is a living symbol of the quality progress which the entire Italian wine sector has undertaken through the twentieth century. Ruffino's production philosophy is based on two leading concepts: The quality of its wines and the expression of the territories where these wines are produced - a winemaking art which Ruffino has refined throughout the decades. With the desire to bring the best quality the Tuscan territory has to offer to wine lovers all over the world, Ruffino has contributed significantly to the creation of the fine image which Italian winemaking holds on the international wine scene today. Chianti Ruffino, followed by Riserva Ducale, was one of the very first wines to cross the Italian border and introduce Italian wine to the world. Present in over 85 countries covering 5 continents, Ruffino is an international leader of great wines "Made in Italy!"

UMBRIA

TENUTA CORINI

The Tenuta Corini estate is situated in an area of Umbria that is as beautiful as it is unknown, and its winemaking potential is still largely untapped. Montegabbione is the Corini family's town of origin, so, when returning after 30 years in Switzerland with their dear friend Achilles Buser, owners Fausto and Antonella Corini decided to invest the fruits of their labour in the ancestral home. They built a beautiful cellar, perfectly integrated with the surrounding landscape, and restored the adjacent villa to provide guest accommodation. Their aim is to contribute to the discovery and development of the land, which also means producing the great wines that are one of its distinctive features.

REDFRABUSCO ROSSO I.G.T

2004	13.5%	06 x 75 cl
------	-------	------------

Grape Variety: SANGIOVESE, MONTEPULCIANO and MERLOT

Frabusco's name derives from a combination of the winery owners' initials. One might say that it reflects their philosophy in life: a blend of wealth and history (sangiovese and montepulciano) and the strength of modernity (merlot). A few months of ageing in barriques and a long period in bottles enhance the wine's own special characteristics, revealing the unexpected, unexplored features of the land.

TENUTA DECUGNANO DEI BARBI

Decugnano dei Barbi is a producer of premium Umbrian wines. The Decugnano dei Barbi estate is situated near the town of Orvieto, at Fossatello di Corbara, in the old zone of production of Orvieto Classico. It is located on a hill facing the Orvieto rock at 320 meters above sea level. Its special and privileged position is perfect for quality production. The climate, the microclimate with its exposure to the sun and the soil of marine origin, marly, argillaceous, rich in fossilised oysters and shells of the Pliocene age, make it particularly suitable for vine-growing. The ideal ventilation of the vineyards completes the uniqueness of this location.

TERRE DE LA CUSTODIA

In the heart of Umbria, on the border between Gualdo Cattaneo and Montefalco, nestled in Umbria rolling hill where the sun drenches their grapes and instills power and strength in the wines. The Farchioni family refounded the vineyard and winery "The Azienda Agraria Terre de la Custodia" evoking once again its old origins as grape-growers and winemakers dating back as far as 1780. It is here that the Franciscan friar and P. Clares of Montefalco sheltered the ancient clone vine as the Sagrantino, one of the only indigenous grapes variety helping them to survive. And it is in its microclimate that the agronomic and oenological teams conducted exhaustive soil study to recreate the ancient art of winemaking.

CHILE

ERASMO (Maule Valley)

In 1995 Count Francesco Marone Cinzano, the owner of the Col d'Orcia estate in Montalcino, Italy, decided to expand his production of fine wines to Chile, where he felt there was immense potential for production of world-class wines. The vision of Erasmo took Count Cinzano and longtime consultant Maurizio Castelli to the Central Valley of Chile, where they finally decided upon the area of "Riserva di Caliboro" in the Maule Valley with its gently sloping alluvial terraces, intense sunlight, dry southerly winds and optimal rainfall. The highest quality French grape clones were personally imported to Chile for this project and six years were spent perfecting vineyard location, soil exploration, and winemaking techniques. The result of this intense commitment and dedication is Erasmo, a unique Chilean wine that follows in the footsteps of the Cinzano family's longstanding tradition of

CABERNET MERLOT

Vintage	Vol	Size
2010	14.5%	06 x 75 cl

Grape Variety: CABERNET SAUVIGNON, CABERNET FRANC, MERLOT

A traditional blend of Cabernets and Merlot, this wine has not been filtered to preserve its quality and may present sediments due to natural settling. Dominant Cabernet note, with aromas of graphite and cedar rising above wild flower and toasted spice. Black fruit and lusciously ripe plums coincide with deep tannins that smoothly unfold. Vanilla and pomegranate come forward in the finish, with superb tannins. A consistent "Best Buy" vintage after vintage.

LATE HARVEST TORONTEL

2010	12.5%	06 x 37.5 cl
------	-------	--------------

Grape Variety: TORONTEL

First created in 2006, perhaps by chance, from a very special vineyard of dry-farmed, low-yield, 60-years-old Torontel vines typical of the Maule Valley area. Golden yellow colour, brilliant and warm, with a citrus aroma and hints of grapefruit and juicy pear and soft scents of ripe apricot. Elegant palate with notes of candied orange peels and rose petals.

Viña Falernia (Elqui Valley, Vicuña)

Aldo Olivier's family is originally from a small village in northern Italy called Dimaro. In 1951 the economy was failing, so Aldo's father decided to leave the country to go to Chile, taking with him an opportunity for development dealt between the then Chilean President -Gabriel Gonzalez Videla- and the then Italian Prime Minister -Alcide De Gasperi-. Falernia began as an innovative venture, as it is Chile's most northerly wine estate, a considerable distance from the country's main wine-growing areas. The driving force has been a passion for the wine and the challenge of transforming a tract of desert into a green vineyard with enormous potential. Utilizing the latest technologies, support from Chilean agronomist

NEW ZEALAND

MOUNT RILEY (Marlborough) NEW

A family owned and run Marlborough winery who craft wines that are approachable and down to earth with pure, vibrant flavours and aromas, capturing the essence of the famous lands in each vintage. The "17 Valley" is an iconic vineyard, their furthest site from the Richmond Ranges and so gets the least amount of rainfall. That, combined with clay based soils (and beautiful views of the Pacific ocean), makes it a cracking site to grow grapes. Exclusive to Alivini.

SOGRAPE VINHOS (Douro)

The history of Mateus Rosé goes back to 1942, when Fernando Van Zeller Guedes created and launched a highly distinctive concept - a wine with a strong personality and unique flavour, presented in an original and innovative bottle. Inside the iconic bottle was something different: a new, rosé-coloured, fresh, slightly sparkling and very versatile wine.

The grapes are carefully selected from the best quality red varieties grown in Northern Portugal. A method called bica aberta with long fermentation under controlled temperatures is used to achieve the particularly well-balanced, fresh and fruity quality of the wine.

SPAIN

ARTESA

Set high into a hilltop with panoramic views of Napa Valley, San Francisco Bay and its own estate vineyards, it's easy to see why Artesa is called the Jewel of Carneros. Owned by the Raventos family of Spain, whose winemaking history dates to the mid-sixteenth century, the winery takes its name from the Catalan word for "handcrafted".
